

Encompass Communications and Learning announces Gold Preferred Industry Partnership with LTEN

EDGEWATER, Md. - [Feb. 26, 2021] – Encompass Communications and Learning, Inc. announced today it has become a 2021 Gold Preferred Industry Partner with the Life Sciences Trainers & Educators Network (LTEN). The Preferred Industry Partner program was developed by LTEN to recognize industry partners who provide substantial support to the organization and its members throughout the year.

“As a training and communications company that’s dedicated to life sciences, we’re very proud and excited about this partnership,” said Jon Madden, Encompass managing partner, president and chief financial officer. “Working with LTEN provides us with a powerful platform to use our extensive life sciences expertise in sales, sales leadership, market access, marketing, project management, instructional design and more to deliver value to LTEN members.”

Celebrating its 50th anniversary this year, LTEN is a global nonprofit organization focused on meeting the needs of life sciences learning professionals. Encompass was founded by Madden over 10 years ago after he saw a need in the life sciences industry for comprehensive training solutions that reinforce learning and ensure a true transfer of knowledge.

“We’re committed to advancing professional development and learning in the life sciences,” Madden said. “Our partnership with LTEN really underscores that commitment.”
